MARKET COMMENTARY

Global equities saw modest gains in February amid a divergence in leadership: U.S. stocks declined due to concerns over AI investments and creative destruction, while regions like Japan, emerging markets, Europe, and China outperformed, driven by diverse sector opportunities and improving data. Style-wise, Value outperformed Growth, and lower-volatility strategies remained resilient, with sector winners including Utilities, Energy, Materials, and Consumer Staples. Fixed income posted broad positive returns, led by longer-duration government bonds amid falling yields and rate volatility, with U.S. Treasuries gaining significantly. Credit markets showed mixed results, with investment-grade corporates rising, high yield flat, and leveraged loans declining, supported mainly by falling rates rather than currency movements.

Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly lower than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso strengthened against the US dollar.
