MARKET COMMENTARY

The fund delivered a positive return in July on the back of strong global equities. Global equity markets rallied as the announcement of several trade agreements by the US administration brought more clarity to the markets and supported risk sentiment. US equities led gains for the period outperforming its developed market peers in dollar terms. Global bond markets saw divergence in performance as government bond yields rose while credit market enjoyed a positive month. During the period, Amundi Russell 1000 Growth ETF was the leading contributor to performance for the period benefitting from their regional allocation. Other notable contributors to performance included Federated Hermes Asia Ex Japan Equity, BlackRock Advantage US Equity, JP Morgan Global Select Equity and NT AC Asia ex Japan Screened Equity. However, Selection European Equity was the leading detractor to performance for the period as European equities lagged other major markets. Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly higher than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso weakened against the US dollar.
