MARKET COMMENTARY

In August, global stocks, as measured by the MSCI World Index, rose 2.6%, driven by Chinese equities and U.S. small-caps, supported by falling interest rates, trade progress, and a weaker USD. U.S. small-caps benefitted from optimism over potential Fed rate cuts and strong economic data, favoring value over growth, with cyclical sectors like Materials and Energy outperforming. Fixed income also advanced amid subdued inflation and weak labor data, with long-duration bonds and corporate credit performing well. The fund maintains a moderate overweight in equities, focusing on high-quality growth companies in AI, automation, and innovation, with a significant position in U.S. technology and communication services. Regional exposure favors the U.S., with reduced European and Japanese holdings, and a cautious stance on non-U.S. equities due to growth and margin concerns. Duration remains aligned with the benchmark, and credit remains a core component, complemented by gold and a flexible risk management approach, including currency positioning, notably in the yen and underweight in the yuan and Hong Kong dollar.

Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly lower than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso strengthened against the US dollar.

FOOTNOTES

¹ Quoted Asset Management Charge is inclusive of Fund Manager, Custodian and Fund Administration fees and VAT. Please note that the target fund of the Fund charges a separate management fee which is included in the computation of the Fund's NAVPU.

² Volatility measures the degree to which the Fund fluctuates vis-à-vis its average return in a specific period. The lower the number, the more stable the Fund's return is.

³ The Fund targets a 4.00% annualized payout rate (2.00% semi-annually), which is not guaranteed and may change at the discretion of AXA Philippines.

⁴ Price return refers to the fund performance based on the NAVPU movement of the fund with the payout deducted from NAVPU

⁵ Total return refers to the fund performance based on the NAVPU movement of the fund with the dividend payouts taken into account as reinvested back to the fund value.

⁶ Cumulative returns is the total earnings performance of the fund in a specific period.

⁸ Dividend history reflects the payout rate and not the dividend yield.
