MARKET COMMENTARY

In June, global equities rose 4.3%, reaching all-time highs, driven by emerging markets benefiting from easing trade tensions, falling U.S. yields, and a weaker dollar. U.S. small-cap stocks and growth sectors, particularly Technology and Communication Services, outperformed, supported by AI themes and optimistic trade developments. Fixed income markets also advanced, aided by moderating inflation and lower yields across U.S. Treasuries, with international sovereign and emerging market bonds performing strongly amid dollar weakness. The fund's equity exposure increased to 61%, mainly in high-quality, secular growth companies across sectors like healthcare, energy, and financials, with strategic adjustments within technology and energy. Currency positioning shifted to reduce U.S. dollar exposure, overweight in the Yen, and modest increases in Euro holdings, reflecting ongoing macroeconomic concerns and tactical risk management. Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly higher than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso weakened against the US dollar, with a +1.1% MoM return.

FOOTNOTES

¹ Quoted Asset Management Charge is inclusive of Fund Manager, Custodian and Fund Administration fees and VAT. Please note that the target fund of the Fund charges a separate management fee which is included in the computation of the Fund's NAVPU.

² Volatility measures the degree to which the Fund fluctuates vis-à-vis its average return in a specific period. The lower the number, the more stable the Fund's return is.

³ The Fund targets a 4.00% annualized payout rate (2.00% semi-annually), which is not guaranteed and may change at the discretion of AXA Philippines.

⁴ Price return refers to the fund performance based on the NAVPU movement of the fund with the payout deducted from NAVPU

⁵ Total return refers to the fund performance based on the NAVPU movement of the fund with the dividend payouts taken into account as reinvested back to the fund value.

⁶ Cumulative returns is the total earnings performance of the fund in a specific period.

⁸ Dividend history reflects the payout rate and not the dividend yield.
