MARKET COMMENTARY

US REITs faced significant headwinds in March as the market shifted toward a risk-off posture amid heightened geopolitical tensions and broader market volatility. The correction impacted various subsectors, with smaller-cap and pro-cyclical segments like Lodging and Industrial underperforming, while self-storage REITs experienced continued pressure from depressed street rates and constrained demand due to a locked-in housing market. Healthcare and Data Center REITs demonstrated relative resilience, benefiting from strong upward estimate revisions and defensive characteristics. Despite near-term challenges including elevated supply in certain segments and softening fundamentals, stable interest rate expectations and solid operational fundamentals position the sector for potential recovery as market conditions normalize.

Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly higher than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso weakened against the US dollar.
