MARKET COMMENTARY

Global equity markets experienced significant turbulence in March, driven primarily by escalating geopolitical tensions as the US-Israeli offensive on Iran, launched on February 28, disrupted global energy supplies and sent oil prices surging more than 50%. The conflict created navigation challenges in the Strait of Hormuz, with crude oil approaching $110 per barrel. Asian markets were particularly hard hit, posting their worst monthly decline since 2008 as investors reduced risk exposure. Emerging markets saw their sharpest drop since March 2020, falling over 13%. The combination of geopolitical uncertainty, elevated energy costs, and inflation concerns weighed heavily on investor sentiment throughout the month, prompting a broad-based selloff across global equities.

Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly higher than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso weakened against the US dollar.
