MARKET COMMENTARY

In September 2025, the Nasdaq 100 outperformed the S&P 500, driven by its technology exposure and minimal financial holdings. The Fed's rate cut to 4.00-4.25% and revised downward economic projections signaled a cautious easing stance amid signs of a slowing labor market, including a significant downward revision of non-farm payrolls by 911,000 jobs. The FOMC's new dot plot indicates two more rate cuts by year-end, although the sole dissenter favored a larger cut. Sector performance was led by technology and consumer discretionary, with notable company movers including AppLovin (increased 11% after index inclusion), Warner Bros. Discovery (up 55% on merger rumors), and Nvidia's strategic partnership with OpenAI. Risks include ongoing government shutdown threats, mixed economic signals, and a potential shift toward recessionary pressures, prompting a cautious outlook for markets.

Since the target fund is USD-denominated, the return of this peso share class fund was significantly higher than that of its dollar share class as the Philippine peso weakened against the US dollar.
