MARKET COMMENTARY

Regional contributions to performance were mixed in March. In the U.S., the underlying funds mostly underperformed the benchmark, primarily due to the underperformance of systematic managers Blackrock and Federated Hermes. The US Value (Robeco BP US Premium) and Core Fundamental (AB) funds performed in line with the broader market. In Europe, the Core and Value funds outperformed relative to peers, while the Eleva fund contributed negatively. Global fund results were mixed, with the off-benchmark overweight in EM and Asia ex-Japan stocks detracting due to strong underperformance in Asian markets. The main portfolio adjustment involved reducing exposure to Emerging Markets Asia ex-Japan in favor of increased holdings in Developed Asia Pacific ex-Japan.
